PRIVATE I RECORDS is a CBS distributed label, which is a division of Isgro Enterprises. Joe Isgro's operation is one of the premiere record promotion companies in the U.S. Although the label has only been in existence a little over one year, it has already enjoyed substantial chart success with a current roster that includes The Staple Singers, La Toya Jackson, Bonnie Pointer, Joe Lamont, Matthew Wilder, Brenda Lee Eager, and John Hunter. Newest releases include the Staple Singers LP "Turning Point" including the single "Slippery People;" Matthew Wilder's LP "Bouncin' Off The Walls;" The John Hunter LP, "Famous At Night;" and Bonnie Pointer's album "If The Price Is Right."

Upcoming projects include the film soundtrack for the film "Heavenly Bodies;" a soon-to-be-released single by the group, Girls Club, from an NBC-TV Movie of the Week "Make The Break;" and Brenda Lee Eager will record the theme song for the T.V. mini-series "Hollywood Wives." Meanwhile, Joe Lamont is currently in the studio with Peter Bunetta and Rick Chudacoff of Ripe Prod'ns., working on his first LP for Private I.

The label is also actively pursuing new acts, and is interested in signing more R&B, Pop and Rock 'N Roll groups.

Private I has also decided to expand its music publishing activities this year in a merger with the Jay Warner Music catalog. The new publishing operation is called The Private I Music Group with Jay as its president. Warner notes the special advantage he feels this new publishing venture has in its affiliation with the promotional expertise of Isgro Enterprises. Recent signings to the new operation include Wayne Henderson, Gary Goetzman and Mike Piccirillo. Warner is actively looking to acquire new writers and catalogs and will be attending Midem to investigate subpublishing situations.
